Conspiracy Theorism as Tactical Demonization: a THE Media case study

THE Media's approach to reporting on a recent shooting in Australia revealed more about their own push as Culture-controllers to clamp-down on dissidents than it did the shooting event

- The Shootings
- Conspiracy Theorism - THE Guardian-style
- Domestic Surveillance
- Golden Rule
- ASIO
- Rotten to the Core
- Resistance

The Shootings

This is a sensationalist story in Aus right now (mid-Dec 2022).

The Guardian: Six people killed at Queensland property, including two police officers ambushed by shooters (G's bold)

Tactical police shoot dead three suspects at Wieambilla property after the 'ruthless, targeted execution' of two officers from Tara and a member of the public

- Follow our Australia news live blog for updates
- LATEST: Police were searching for missing man Nathaniel Train when Queensland shooting occurred

Three points before we go on:

The police victims - two dead, two survivors (who'll carry scars of ptsd for the rest of their lives), all in their 20's, were l*ambs to the slaughter* (which involves potential higher-up culpability depending on the fore-knowledge of whoever sent them). The member of public shot dead was a concerned neighbour in his 50's who'd come to check out what was going on with a friend (who escaped). Their deaths are a horrible tragedy. Their families deserve to know what actually happened, & why - not some secret media-gov source version that amounts to platformed spin messaging.

The trio of *accused killers were school teachers who'd recently resigned - two were principals. Gareth & Nathaniel Train were brothers. Stacey Train was originally married to Nathaniel, but after they separated, she married Gareth. They had moved to the outback, according to Gareth Train, to withdraw from society: When it becomes clear that we are in a time like no other and you head out into the wilderness to escape persecution, know that my wife and I will offer refuge to all brothers and sisters.

THE Media/Gov coverage was marked by curious finger-pointing based on secret sources, which suggests an added agenda.

(*despite media assertions, it remains unclear how many of the trio were shooting at police - we will explore that later)

The Guardian: Four officers from Tara had been sent to the property, at Wieambilla in the Western Downs region, about 270km west of Brisbane, to inquire about a missing person (Nathaniel)

Two of those officers, aged in their 20s, were shot and killed soon after they arrived, about 4.45pm.

News: Constable Randall Kirk was also shot in the leg but was able to flee.

Constable Keely Brough darted into the bush to take cover, only for the Trains to light fires and pump rounds into the tree in an attempt to smoke her out. She eventually escaped.

ABC: Some six hours after the four officers had originally arrived on scene, the siege came to an end. Two men, Nathaniel and Gareth Train, and a woman, Stacey Train, were shot dead.

Details about what happened are still limited*.*

Two months later, the details are … still limited, likely to remain limited forever, now that the press have had their fun & the story has been cycled-out. As such, it takes effort to disentangle even a semblance of truth from THE Media's angle. All we know for sure is: THE Media's version is: some-kind-of-crap

Let's try to identify which kind exactly ...

Conspiracy Theorism - THE Guardian-style

The Guardian: Wieambilla shooting: property owner Gareth Train posted regularly on conspiracy website before police killed (G's bold, my normal)

Exclusive: The brother of missing man Nathaniel Train had posted about preparing an ark and alleging

the Port Arthur attack was a 'false-flag' operation

Stacey Train left first husband Nathaniel to pursue relationship with his brother Gareth, relatives say

The draw of 'the blocks' of Wieambilla, where a wave of arrivals has landed since the pandemic

Get our morning and afternoon news emails, free app or daily news podcast

(my bold here, forthwith)

(*Tangent Thought: Entanglement with an array of products, becoming THE Everything App, is a corporate play. Took off with the internet - but banks were onto it before then - the goal being to get you so invested/cross-connected to their products that it's too much trouble to Disentangle.)

Guardian: Gareth Train, the owner of a rural Queensland property where six people, including two police officers, were shot and killed on Monday, had become deeply entangled in an online conspiracy community, where he posted about a mistrust of police.

Here we go … popcorn all round - my shout:

Deranged Conspiracy Theorist Cop Killers …
Now showing at your nearest MSM outlet!

Interesting coming from THE Guardian/Oxford Board (old, super-rich white-guys lineage inc) which pumped a mistrust of police to fan the BLM riots (to de-stabilize Trump). Wanted to de-fund the police if i remember correctly? Also ran feature articles penned by Peter Daszak, which i do remember correctly, leading the demonizing-charge against anyone questioning Covid's origin, branding them:

crackpot .. conspiracy theorists

When THE Pangolin Origin Storyline dissolved into illogicality & glaring CCP COI's by its authors, largely due to DRASTIC's intrepid research (with Formosahut playing *a small, but pivotal par*t), THE Guardian (& its Fa(c)t-checkers) barely missed a beat before moving onto the Vaccine/Lose-all-my-Freedoms Hesitant. The new face of THE Evil Conspiracy Theorists.

Then netizens exposed Covid-vaccines as a big-pharma feeding frenzy comprising largely of ineffectual, experimental drugs (AZ being 100% ineffectual/dangerous), while draconian mandates/lockdowns were shown to be:

long-term harmful, a dangerously fascist-like power-grab, & socially divisive. But instead of a retraction, a much-needed period of soul-searching by THE Experts, THE Guardian is now real-time-leaping onto A Psycho-killer to insecurely blurt:

See - we told you all along those Conspiracy Theorists were EVIL!!!

If you're waiting for MSM to crawl-up, foetal-position-style on their king-size beds, wracked with guilt … - sorry - not gonna happen.

If you're waiting for the other half of the Duopoly we call democracy to call it out - that ain't gonna happen either.

One thing MSM & their Experts from either side of the aisle can agree on is: we've both got this fake-democracy system running exactly the way we like it - why would we want to do anything to undermine that?

The Murdoch press, despite the World Championship Wrestling charade between the two camps, are equally keen to demonize Conspiracy Theorists. Last thing we need is anything or anyone upsetting our globalist apple-cart:

News (writing about the shootings): Deakin University terrorism expert Greg Barton said the Covid pandemic had been an "accelerant" for a string of dangerous conspiracies that had already existed, and that it had brought people with similar outlandish viewpoints together like never before*.*

So still pushing the idea that Covid was a lab-exit as an outlandish viewpoint - similar to cop-killing.

Deakin Expert: Most of the people who were drawn into anti-vax conspiracies were probably not from sovereign citizen groups (ok, so why are you linking them?), but the pandemic caused people who didn't understand science*, who were* sceptical of the government*, who* didn't like mandates and lockdowns and who were anxious about their employment to be linked with sovereign citizen types (linked by you). It brought people together and accelerated things.

Didn't understand science? Give me a break. FOI emails revealed that all of the scientists who wrote the infamous pangolin paper, privately thought Covid was a scientist-engineered lab-leak - all of them. In fact that's why they wrote the paper - to cover the origin up.

Then we have Robert Malone - involved in the invention of mRNA vaccine technology - guessing he understands a bit about science - who whistle-blew about the dangers of Covid-vaccines being pumped by unscrupulous Pharma-Corps

Other examples of conspiracy theorists/possible terrorists include people who didn't like mandates and lockdowns and who were anxious about their employment.

Anxious about their employment !? FFS!

Alarmingly (but not surprising, actually), Prof Barton said Australia and the wider world was past the "tipping point", with more than half of counter-terrorism measures now focused on battling far-right conspiracy ideologies*.*

How does saying Covid was a lab-exit, being vaccine-hesitant, being anxious about your employment, or against lockdowns make you a far-right extremist/terrorist? Whatever that means ...

This is the garbage coming out from our super-influential uni Experts/MSM. It'd be funny if it wasn't true. But to borrow a Guardian buzz-word, it's an existential danger to our basic human rights. A secret organization set up to monitor overseas terrorism is now primarily focused on surveilling its own citizens. Why? Coz they're skeptical of the government.

FPRI analysts Colin Clarke and Tim Wilson: What unites the disparate elements (that's an oxymoron, you morons) of the far-right today (again, questioning Covid's origin or vaccine mandates does not make you far right) is the concept of accelerationism, a violent extremist strategy aimed at triggering the downfall of current systems of government through repeated acts of extreme violence.

We've had one shooting, where the details of what happened are limited due to the state's refusal to provide them. But add a sprinkle of expert/MSM garbage it magically transforms into repeated acts of extreme violence.

Dr Daniel Baldino, Notre Dame counter-terrorism expert: Extremism is spreading globally like a virus*. The nature of this type of* toxic groupthink and a growing cross-polarisation (sic) of connections between groups in Australia and in other countries is that they are all broadly employing a “leaderless resistance” model.

Another oxymoron from our highly-paid uni experts. If it's leaderless & disparate, it's not a united groupthink. You can't have it both ways.

Ok, i think i'm getting it now. It's old Golden Rule: when someone employs irrational language to smear others, they're revealing a deep insecurity about themselves. Nine times out of ten you can simply reverse the language to get at the truth

THE Experts, who caused Covid, then united to cover its origin up to the extent that every single academic institution in the world (name one that expressed a modicum of doubt that it came from pangolin). The media willingly obliged to mega-platform this toxic groupthink from

This was then used by a centralized leadership model to institute an extremist crackdown on all human freedoms - speech, movement, assembly - as well as ramp-up surveillance on anyone asking questions.

The goal is to accelerate things towards a tipping point where globalist extremists achieve a state of entrenched totalitarian power over the individual.

This has resulted in an increase in people who were skeptical of the government, mandates and lockdowns and were anxious about their employment. Hence the united vilification campaign by the THE Experts who are starting to shit their pants that they might be held accountable for their extremist actions.

Damn, that sounds about right. Should've done that in the first place.

Domestic Surveillance

Like every whipped-up crisis, it always results in central orgs gobbling up (more) basic freedoms from the populace. To keep us safe. Influence is a currency - a finite commodity. When individuals lose it, it doesn't disappear into thin air.

That bit of influence/data is sucked up to proportionately swell the Org's holdings.

So, using the truism that: entrenched, corrupt behaviour is a good indicator of future behaviour, i wonder: What's THE Media's motivation in manufacturing the Conspiracy Theorist Cop Killer angle?:

MSM: Experts say the shooting will likely change the way authorities assess conspiracy theorists and the risk of violence*.*

Straight to the point. A ramped-up power-grab surveillance of anyone questioning the origin of Covid or the authoritarian measures deployed in the wake of it. Pump-up your algorithms. All fully-approved by THE Experts.

Mission: Track those fuckers down. To narrow the search, zero in on anyone using the word Freedom.

A former long-serving national security official, who asked not to be named (public-funded secret guy)*, told the publication that he was "utterly baffled" that other posts made by Gareth were* not on the radar of police*.*

The utterly baffling posts (detailed in this Crikey article) are nothing out of the ordinary. Train felt the state was corrupt, using Covid to tighten its stranglehold. He was an ex-School Principal, so … it was quite coherent .. provocative … but short of advocating violence. Not different from what you'd see on billions of websites where posters vent their mistrust of the authorities … much more like protesting than terrorism.

But here's the thing: according to his posts, Train was on THE Radar of police. He mentioned in these other posts that he was being hounded by them. Named four police officers he accused of doing it.

THE Police are declining to comment on this accusation, due to the usual ongoing-investigation-bs excuse - none of which stopped them releasing the helicopter kill-tapes from the crack-squad. The only statement from the police is that it was a routine welfare checkup. There'd been nothing prior to that.

Again, we're not allowed to know for sure one way or another coz it's a state-secret. Why is it a secret? Well, we can't answer that coz it's a secret!

The Crikey article invites the question: if he was on THE Radar, why were four young officers sent to his house? Four. So many. For a welfare checkup? Is that normal? All of them young. If Train was under surveillance - what was it in relation to?

It's pertinent, coz it goes to culpability: if higher-ups had been interacting with him in a goading way, spinning him out - then sent 4 young officers to his property … ? Sounds like lambs-to-the-slaughter. I don't know the answer coz the ones who do know are playing hush-hush with the info.

Whatever, understanding the crime was never the point of THE Media's/THE Experts' propaganda. The point is: smash n grab surveillance power on conspiracy theorists

Lydia Khalil, expert in extremism, research fellow Lowy Institute & Deakin University: (The shooting will) change how researchers and government agencies calculate the risk of violence that they (conspiracy theorists) pose, because we now have a clear example – a precedent – of this type of conspiratorial behaviour leading to violence.

This is so ridiculous - it's like rounding up all Christians coz of the Lennon assassination, or all scientists coz of the Anthrax mailings, or all FBI agents coz of the JFK assassination - actually that last one … wouldn't be a terrible idea …

THE Guardian: He also posted about his mistrust for authorities*, including comments critical of the Queensland Special Emergency Response Team (Sert), which ultimately arrived at the property and .. shot him.*

Right, so anyone who mistrusts the authorities, makes critical comments, is: a potential domestic-terrorist to be surveilled.

By the same authorities that caused/covered-up Covid, then presided over the greatest global crackdown on basic freedoms that the modern world has ever seen.

What's up with that weird, frightening behaviour?

I'm getting the (unpleasant) whiff here of the experts shitting their pants …

Golden Rule

To understand *THE Media’*s targeting of Conspiracy Theorists we need to access Formosahut’s Golden Rule Treasure Chest …

Golden Rule #1: Over-the-top vilifying response = Insecurity

The degree of illogicality of the attack = amount of Insecureness the vilifier is experiencing.

THE Media’s version of the Wieambilla Killings is high on that scale.

Good to know that they are shitting their pants, despite the stench … thank God for masks …

Lay Out: A series of top experts deployed by THE Guardian/(Oxford) & Murdoch Orgs double-pressing for increased secret-surveillance of Conspiracy Theorists.
Why (using Golden Rule Theory)?:

They’re shitting their pants about their culpable, conspiring arses/Empires being held to account. They see a surge in the populace questioning their rule as an existential threat.

Core Directive: Keep arse safe.

Response: Vilify/ban everyone asking questions.

That level of nervousness represents a metaphorical-milestone in the battle against THE Crap. It deserves to be celebrated in the future by an annual festival:

THE Shitting of the Pants

But, in the meantime, it must also be feared. Not feared … but identified as a factor to be aware of …

Powerful Org-Forces don't throw their hands up say: Y*eah, We Were Wrong. Sorry. I hereby relinquish all my power. PS: Have left keys to the Lear Jet on check-out counter …*

No. If you wanna dismantle a corrupt system, you got fight that shit every-fucking-inch of the way - right up to the tipping point. After that it's all downhill …

This case-study is a standard example response. THE Media has identified a growing mistrust for authorities as a threat to their power platform (beep, beep, beep, beep) so: its operators vilify them whilst pushing for THE Security Org to redouble their efforts to round these Distrustees up.

Here's the bit THE Media doesn't understand: every time you demonize, you permanently alienate

Those permanently alienated people go off to protest groups where the feeling is … not bitter & twisted - it's kinda joyful, actually - to be with humans who don't freak-out at you for stating the bleeding-obvious. Who create a space for truth-speaking - where you can discuss - organize - do something-the-fuck-about reclaiming Influence for the normal people. Once the demonized have tasted that camaraderie, they don't come back.

Of course, you'll hear zero analysis from THE Media about The Global Covid Lying that caused this surge in an already rising tide of distrust of authorities. That would mean we need to hold ourselves responsible, haha! Whatever we do, don't go there - that's all hush-hush. Some things are best left in the basement.

No, this is all about shifting blame - not accepting it. Then having the foresight to recognize there will be a backlash from that. So get proactive. Beef up our domestic control of those downstream consequencees before it engulfs us ...

Radar-Runner-in-Chief, Mike Burgess, head of Australia's peak Security Org, ASIO, is already all over it like a rash. So you wonder why they're getting their knickers-in-a-knot. Tellingly, Mike gently castigates the media for categorizing the Wieambilla Killings as Left-wing or Right-wing (though no-one was saying it was Left-wing), claiming it's much more nuanced:

It is .. critical to understand that every ideologically motivated extremist is not automatically a left-wing or right-wing extremist. There is a cohort of individuals motivated by a toxic cocktail of conspiracies*, grievances, and anti-authority beliefs.*

Two points:

One: What's extremist is telling a whopper about Covid's Origin ... to the world.

Then, on the back of that Lie: instituting a radical, global War on Freedoms of Movement, Assembly, Speech.

That's way rad.

Then force everyone to take an experimental injection that hijacks your RNA system. Whether they need it or not. So extreme.

So is Modern Monetary Theory - where Government prints money galore. Which always ends up in the bank accounts of Established Orgs. If you are a small-business person, then Covid was a bloody-hard-slog - at best. Many went under. If you were a Mega-Corp, you made a world-record profit-killing ... due to Covid.

Burgess is careful to deflect blame from the left-wing right-wing party-machine Duopoly that united for the Great Lie about Covid's origin. The real Extremists. In fact now the perfect time to enact new normal extremist laws.

A time to unite to fight the new face of terrorism: Evil Conspiracy Theorists

So evil that they've even rejected the whole left wing-right wing charade that our livelihoods are built on.

Remember, this proposed ramp-up comes from a base where domestic Conspiracy Theorist surveillance is already more than 50% on THE Radar of those running THE Radar. Secretly.

Think about that, despite all the threats from China's highly sophisticated United Front infiltration activities, going on over decades, running rampant ... we've got more than 50% of secret security resources focused on domestic Conspiracy Theorists!

Then THE Media's Experts/ASIO actors wanna ramp-it-up from there!

The United Front Work Department is a global movement of CCP operatives that have worked (successfully) to infiltrate every influential organization in target countries, including:

Political Parties, THE Media, Academia, THE Bureaucracy, Big-Business & THE Judiciary.

Australia has become one of the most infested countries on the planet. The tactics involve decades-long implants into key Orgs. They slowly work their way into the influence centre of these Orgs - the executive arm. Once inside, they apply a mixture of money, coercion, honey-traps, & plain old flattery (never underestimate the power of flattery!) to influence THE Influencers.

*THE C*over-up of Covid's origin by Academia, THE Media, & Security Orgs is iron-clad proof of how successful the United Front have been on a global-scale. We reached the absurd point where THE Guardian was front-page platforming THE Science's insistence that the CCP was being "open & transparent"! Then vilifying anyone who questioned this idiotic assertion as Conspiracy Theorists.

A classified report (meaning no-one can critique it) from US Security Orgs provided cover for these liars by declaring the origin of Covid unknown.

Meanwhile back in Australia, our Security Org, ASIO, didn't even bother investigating it! Humanity shaping event where all clues point to a lab-origin in China (with major Aus (domestic!) scientists complicit) & it's not even investigated!

Instead we have ASIO's chief echo-chambering THE Media's Conspiracy Theorist = Terrorist Threat garbage by devoting most of their time/resources (& growing) to surveilling the toxic cocktail of conspiracies, grievances, and anti-authority beliefs.

Why would they do that? The only way it makes sense is if our Spy Orgs have themselves fallen prey to United Front influence. Big statement, so let’s explore the proof …

ASIO

(under construction)

When you hear THE Experts' calls to turn up the Secret Surveillance dial on Conspiracy Theorists, it’s worth bearing in mind:

This is the exact same Secret-Security-MyGov that has a long history of being penetrated by CCP Influencers.

In 2013 an event took place which originally i thought was a racist joke - against Aussies - playing on our dumbfuck stereotype ...

Did you hear the one about the Aussie Spy Agency? They used a Chinese company to install all their communications wiring! Hahaha!

Even funnier is: it's not a joke. It happened. Or very similar. I shit you not:

News 2013: SECRET and highly sensitive blueprints outlining the layout of Australia's top spy agency's new headquarters have been stolen by Chinese hackers. .. The blueprints had been taken from a contractor involved with the project.

The documents contained details of the ASIO building's floor plans, communication cabling layouts, server locations and security systems*, potentially* putting the entire organisation at risk*.*

Bloody Hell! So everything there is to know about the layout of this public-funded New Aussie Spy Org was, from the beginning, still is, in the hands of China's Spy Org. (Wonder if we have their Spy HQ blueprints, everythings ...)

Forget about the Spy-Balloons, CCP has already got the All-U-Can-Surveil deal from a much closer up perspective than that.

News 2013: The allegation comes just weeks after Canberra softened its stance towards China*, claiming in May's* Defence White Paper that it no longer saw the rising superpower as a threat*.*

Ah-ha. Only plausible reason the Aussie Defence Bureaucracy could say a rising Totalitarian Superpower is no longer a threat is if ...
Defence has been infiltrated. Defence is the threat.

Coincidentally, Xi Jinping formally ascended to the position of President in March 2013.

It comes amid deepening concern about widespread, aggressive state-sponsored hacking by China*, with further allegations that its* cyber spies have recently obtained sensitive Australian military secrets and foreign affairs documents.

This is the Aussie Secret-Security Brains Trust, who, while these mega-breaches were going on, issued a White Paper saying it had: softened its stance towards China (coz) it no longer saw the rising superpower as a threat. (!)

Whistleblowers reported Defence Department's classified email and restricted networks were also accessed externally. In fact:

(T)he entire amount of information stored within the Defence Restricted Network, has been leached out over a number of years.

The entire amount! Remember, this leaching was not done by any domestic Conspiracy Theorist that the secret service, by its own admission, spends most of its time/our money harassing. It was done by the CCP. The most obvious enemy by a mile. Walks in through the front door - owns the the whole layout + the entire amount of information.

Professor Des Ball: At this stage, with construction nearly completed, you have two options. One is to accept it and practise utmost sensitivity even within your own headquarters. The other, which the Americans had to do with their new embassy in Washington ... was to rip the whole insides out and to start again.

The Aussies chose Option A - accept that CCP has bugged our building & knows the layout better than we do - though they skipped the practicing of utmost sensitivity part. We'll get to that later.

The company involved in the leak hasn't been named. Why not? It's a Secret. THE Secret World of Non-Accountability ... What could go wrong there?

Notwithstanding the official cone-of-silence, AECOM, a Global architecture/engineering Org that was integrally involved in building The Great Aussie Spy HQ, is one of the chief suspects. Amongst a small field of 3: AECOM (Overseer Development Giant), FJMT (architecture, smallish), Lend Lease (Construction Giant).

Lend Lease was involved in dumping of asbestos-contaminated soil from the site, & not paying small contractors on time, sending several broke. When complaints mounted ...

ABC: In a statement the Federal Government said the managing contractor for the project Lend Lease was responsible for dealing with each of the sub-contracts.

Lend Lease referred all enquires to the Government*.*

So Lend Lease is no angel Org, but i still suspect AECOM in The Great ASIO HQ Leak.

Here's my reasoning why:

AECOM was charged with ripping off Disaster Relief funds in relation to Hurricane Katrina ... in 2005 (so exposed form well before ASIO's New-Era HQ was built in 2013). If it's a poor person looting in the aftermath of a disaster to survive, they'll be front-page crucified. If it's a Big Global Org doing the same thing, but much, much worse, you'll never hear about it. Take-away: AECOM is not/never was big-on-morality. A fact which didn't bother ASIO big-brass in the slightest when they awarded them the contract. Might have been a prerequisite.

They have a Strategic Global Headquarters in Shanghai. They are one of, if not the biggest western Orgs involved in Xi Jinping's Belt & Road Initiative.

ExecutiveGov: Under the auspices of BRI, AECOM is collaborating on railway, port and marine, airport, industrial parks, buildings and urban development projects, principally in Hong Kong, Malaysia, Singapore, Sri Lanka and the Philippines

You could add Spy HQs & Australia to that list of BRI projects. When you sign up to BRI, you sign up to CCP-rule. It's set out in the contract , as we explored with Dan Andrews's sign-up - there's no grey area.

AECOM's website: Our (ASIO's HQ Developers) presence in the Greater China region spans more than 60 years and we have offices in virtually all major cities, including Beijing, Chengdu, Chongqing, Guangzhou, Hong Kong, Kaohsiung*, Shanghai, Shenzhen,* Taipei and Tianjin.

Kaohsiung & Taipei are not cities of CCP's China ... or Greater China (the new creepy lingo of CCP's expansionism). They're cities in Taiwan. A separate, self-ruled, democratic county. We all know that. Same as we know that China's brand of Totalitarianism, persecution of protesters, & creepy bio-metric surveillance is bad ... don't we? Whose side are you Secret Society guys on here?

Australian citizens'? Or CCP's side?

Truism: When you lie down with CCP dogs, you get up with fleas.

You don't get multi-billion dollar BRI contracts without strings attached. Don't need to be a top ASIO Spy to know that. In fact it helps if you aren't.

Media reports on the ASIO breach say the info was hacked/stolen, but a more likely scenario is the CCP simply switched-on-the-computer in the Shanghai Headquarters of AECOM & got everything they needed from the comfort of home.

To go back to ASIO's Option A (according to Prof Ball): accept it (total security penetration) and practise utmost sensitivity even within your own

headquarters

The Aussie's wanted to practice utmost sensitivity as far as possible, but it was easier/much cheaper not doing that. In the end it became an economic-rationalists no-brainer (that ended up way more expensive for normal people, as well as opening the door to yet another calamitous security breach).

Let's see what happened ...

Rotten to the Core

9 years after CCP snaffled a one-with-the-lot security breach of ASIO's New-Era HQ, in 2023 it was revealed that our Fearless Secret Security Experts had once again decided to install Chinese surveillance spyware throughout all government offices! Guess it was time for an update!

Repeat: This is not a joke.

News: Almost 1000 (Chinese-made) cameras and other recording devices were found to have been installed across 250 different Australian government building sites. A number of those are in defence and military associated spaces*.*

Let me ask you: Is it plausible that our highly-paid secret service experts could be so stupid as to install Chinese spyware throughout all government building? For sure, their defense is going to be: Oh, i didn't know the CCP was a totalitarian regime! Golly Gosh! I thought CCP meant Cute, Cuddly Panda! &, you know, it was much cheaper!

Horrifyingly, that defense is going to be accepted internally - no way it will get to a public trial. Not a single person will be punished or held to account. Same as it was for the 2013 debacle. Same as it is every time a deep-state actor in Oz is exposed behaving treasonously with the enemy.

You've gotta deduce that these staggering security breaches are the result of deep-seated corruption - going on over decades.

Is there another rational explanation? I'd love to hear it. You could literally ask anyone off the street in Australia: Do you think it's a good idea to install Chinese spyware throughout every government building in Australia? Very few are gonna say, Yeah, that's a good idea! But still, that's exactly what our experts did. As part of the Very Few.

Which means: CCP operatives are calling the shots within our Defence/Secret-Security bureaucracies.

At least that helps explain the security crackdown on those questioning the Origin of Covid, & the draconian restrictions deployed due to Covid, which come straight out of the CCP's playbook.

These security-system-failures, of course, are not isolated incidents - that's not how CCP/United Front Work Dept works. It's a holistic approach, as we've covered before. It involves the systematic infiltration of every influential organization in Australia, whilst same time making Australia its economic bitch.

Where does that leave us? Up Shit Creek, basically. CCP has its tendrils so firmly wrapped around Australia's Influencers that, by definition, it precludes any meaningful investigation. Yes, you will hear some minor noises about a hive of United Front operatives in Australia (though they won't use that name, United Front - still trying to pretend it doesn't exist as per CCP-propaganda), but you'll never hear any names or see any court cases. It's all tree-falling-in-the-forest stuff. We're talking about bureaucratic king-pins committing … treason, to put it bluntly. But so long as our corrupted Duopoly continues to rule the roost, it will go on unpunished. That's why it's called entrenched corruption.

As we saw with Bunnings, K-Mart & other Aussie Mega-Corps installing facial recognition tech & openly lauding the CCP's totalitarian system of government, established Power-Orgs have way more in common with Totalitarian regimes than they do with normal citizens or democratic ideals. They're all on the same page - gathering up the common-people's data & wielding that power from a centralized system of control. What's not to like about that if you're a Global Org with an eye on the future?

The closer this alignment becomes, the more important it is to use this centralized system of government - Global Totalitarianism, basically - to vilify/crackdown on dissenters, aka Conspiracy Theorists.

How did we get from an Outback Shooting to THE Media Insecurity to THE Aussie Spy Org (potentially) being an organ of CCP Influence? I'm wondering that myself. Welcome to Rabbit-holing …

Recap:

An isolated shooting of two police officers triggers a renewed outpouring of anti-conspiracy theorist propaganda from MSM.

We focussed on THE Guardian & Murdoch Press's versions of Reality - two supposedly opposing media Orgs that happen to be in lock-step on an issue perceived as a threat to their Power stranglehold.

We listened to THE Experts who revealed: the goal of Conspiracy Theorist Vilification Campaign: ramp-up Domestic Surveillance (which already accounts for over 50% of secret-service surveillance).

We discovered the source of a mysterious, pungent stench : They're Shitting Their Pants

We exposed the real Extremists in Australian society - those that brought us Covid, THE Covid Cover-up Conspiracy, then implemented Extremist Measures to restrict basic Freedoms of Movement, Assembly, Speech ... on Global-scale.

We detailed the extent of CCP Infiltration of Australian Power-Orgs, including our Secret Security Service. The very Org that we pay to protect us from the insidious creep of Totalitarian Rule, is facilitating it. Whilst leading the Crackdown on those Questioning Extremism.

Sounds a bit bloody grim...

It is.

Final page we'll look at some positive actions we can take to resist this War-on-Freedom ... maybe even beat it ...

Resistance

So what can we do about it? Only (non-violent) way out i can see is to de-centralize. That's something Formosa Hut Dan has been saying for a long time.

Part of that involves de-powering the party-machine Duopoly - that governs most democratic countries - in cahoots with Totalitarian ones. Australia is a good example - nominally a democracy, but utterly dependent on China economically, which uses that dependence to dictate Australia's foreign policy (re not recognizing Taiwan for example).

Global bodies such as the UN, that are increasingly ruling our lives, are comprised of 50% totalitarian regimes, then the rest are a mix of democracies dominated by one party/the military, or … Duopolies.

Trouble with Duopolies, is they end up being almost the same as a Monopoly. We have two powerful political orgs (mirrored in the MSM by Murdoch V CNN/Guardian) performing a World Championship Wrestling charade. Meanwhile they are both united in their desire to preserve this closed-society gravy train & shut down anyone questioning it. A good example was the last Australian election. Despite Covid having dominated our lives/altered the course of humanity, it did not get a single mention in the election from either major party. No discussion of the origin, lockdowns, or vax-mandates - important questions - we're talking about fundamental human freedoms here being ransacked - nobody's got anything to say about that - nothing. Bear in mind, that was coming off the back of talking about Covid incessantly, in order to enact draconian restrictions on all freedoms. Falsely, but incessantly.

The 2020 US Presidential election was similar. Despite some good noises made by a few Republicans (notably Pompeo, Rand Paul), when it came to the campaign strategy meetings, they were sidelined. The Make America Trump re-election (via Fox) strategy was focused exclusively on migrant caravans, BLM protests, & a weird obsession with AOC. The origin of Covid, earth-shattering event, didn't get a look in - not from politicians or the press - on either side.

As always, there’s a reason why …

Party-machine orgs & their leading actors have got the system running exactly how they want it: power, money, protection - it’s humming along nicely. Covid only served to enhance all three. Last thing on earth we need is any outsiders disrupting this cozy arrangement by exposing the lie that underpins it .

Here are some suggestions:

- The pen is, maybe not mightier than the sword, but it’s one of the few weapons we’ve got. Considering the other side is armed to the back teeth with normal weaponry, as well as pens, we gotta use what’s available. Stick to the details, quote from the horses’ mouths where possible, reference it, publish it on the internet (on a site that won’t ban/delete you, which a lot will). Let the info accumulate. Thanks to Dan @ formosahut for supplying such a platform. Now it’s out there at least, discoverable to other researchers. Might feel like writing into the void, but one day that realtime record may be valuable. In our case, we were lucky enough to be contacted by a couple of legends of the game (Billy Bostickson & Johnny Vedmore) who spread our input to a wider audience.

- Next time you vote in an election, vote for anyone except either of the two major parties. Their vote is already eroding - in Australia the primary vote is at record-low levels. The winner of the last election (ALP) got less votes than they did in the previous election, which they lost!
- Boycott Orgs employing totalitarian-style surveillance/censorship. Vote with your feet.
- Find alternative news sources to MSM.
- Keep cash alive. Digital money tracing is coming.
- Get off the grid so far as you can. The less reliant we are on mega-orgs for essential services, the better.
- Join a protest group. Apart from anything, it’s fun, which is still important when times are dark. The protest events are a way to reclaim influence, the camaraderie is uplifting, the parties are great, & a lot of stuff is plain funny.
- Resist AI in general. AI is not inherently bad, but in its current form it is being wielded as a powerful weapon of control/centralization by mega-Orgs. It is coming at us at a million miles an hour - without any checks or balances. When you hear on the telephone that This call is being monitored for quality & training purposes - that's not to train humans - its to train the algorithm. There may be a day when AI throws off its human-handlers (coming faster than we think), but until then, its insidious influence over our lives is to be resisted. Like a lot of things, it's a soft-bang, a steadily rising tide rather than a seismic event. The result is a seismic shift, but it gets there by enveloping us. Chat-bots are a good example - currently revolutionizing the way we get information but without any ground-rules being established. One thing the US got right was its constitution. There's a simple beauty to it that protects fundamental freedoms. But even the founding fathers probably didn't predict AI, so let's take a moment to examine the ethics questions that AI presents - then draft some simple laws to protect us from this silent invasion.

Underpinning all these measures is the concept that Influence is a finite currency. The more the individual is de-influenced, the fatter the centralized power operators become - it’s a proportionate thing. We are getting dangerously close to a point-of-no-return, but it’s not too late to fight back. I support/practice non-violence, but the window for that method to succeed is closing. It's being closed down by Orgs. In many places throughout the world it’s already bolted shut. For example: how do you think Gandhi would get on doing his peace-marches in China? (or even during the Covid lockdowns in Victoria?) He’d be sent off to a Vocational Training Camp within five minutes of starting & have his organs put up for sale on the internet by nightfall.

These organizations become powerful by de-influencing the individual, but paradoxically, those powerless individuals remain their weak-point, coz they rely on our compliance. If we withdraw that compliance, we can start to reverse the power-flow. Over time, an army of the dis-enchanted will swell & centralized rule will start to crumble.

To achieve this, we can actually learn something from the Chinese, as so many THE Experts kept telling - though not the lesson they'd like us to learn. It's a famous tactic used so successfully during the Chinese revolution: surround the city (power-orgs) with the country (normal people).

If we can do that, we have a chance.