Shi Zheng-li

File image of Shi Zhengli at a wet market. Credit: YouTube/Getty

Pronounced Sheauhr (with your mouth stretched as wide as it'll go) - not She - in case anyone cares - which they won't coz she will always be Bat Lady - the original(?) - or Batwoman - which arose shortly after - pop culture will tell us in time ...

On May 26 i posted a section on Shi on Formosahut as part of the Prox O thread. I still like the opening:

The first ever Wuhan lab conspiracy theorist was Shi Zheng-li, aka Batwoman, a senior scientist at the Wuhan Institute of Virology. According to an interview published in Scientific American, when she first got the call from WIV, she was at a seminar in Shanghai. It was the Director of the lab: "Drop whatever you are doing and deal with this now." .. Her first thoughts were: "Could they have come from our lab?"

Since then she's ascended to the pantheon of Covid Conspirators. This page is a quick look at her security profile.

Nature: Key Laboratory of Special Pathogens, Wuhan Institute of Virology, Center for Biosafety Mega-Science. Cool. Knew there was big-science but yeah, for Covid, the correct term is Mega-Science.

Eco-evangelist - says Covid was punishing the human race for keeping uncivilised living habits (political)

Celebrity Scientist: Before Covid, Shi was already famous in China - had her Bat Lady nickname - bestowed by the Chinese media. Also well known amongst the higher-ups in the bio-science community - had collabed with a bunch of them continuously since SARS.

As Garry says:

Garry, 13:42: Obviously Dr Shi there - the Wuhan Institute of Virology - which was built basically because of SARS 1 - you know there were people there you know Dr Shi obviously - very leading prominent virologist way back to the first SARS and 1350 and that big lab there in Wuhan - the institute of virology - that was built basically because of SARS-1

Hmm, so all the suss collaborating EcoHealth/CIA - that shit cuts both ways.

Bat Lady was intersecting with bio-defense-foreigners like there was no tomorrow - Columbia/NIH/Wellcome/CSIRO/Duke/UC - the biggest players there are.

Let's not forget, GoF technology is a western invention/speciality - desirable know-how for a country that's already been the victim of bio-warfare. Shi was the leading expert in China looking to expand her mastery with the dark arts - at a time when milking foreigners for tech was an established CCP plan in full swing.

Her conduit between these worlds was CSIRO veteran Linfa Wang, who was: Chair, Scientific Advisory Board, Centre for Emerging Infectious Diseases, Wuhan Institute of Virology, Chinese Academy of Sciences (2007-) (!!!) (We'll get to Wang next - he's a keeper)

Her published papers show collabs with Daszak (UK/US) Epstein (US EHA) in conjunction with Gary Crameri, Wang Linfa (Aus/CSIRO)) ref ref Baric ref in particular. (Side note: It's curious CSIRO (Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation) is right up there with EcoHealth in terms of Proximal Originess to SARS-CoV-2 - but flies under the radar. You're on my radar - haven't got there yet - won't in this thread - you deserve a new one.)

The question is - in all these international bio-security games - who was playing who? Or were/are they really One Health, One-Team, One-World?

In the great unfinished novel, the ending has Lipkin, Daszak and Baric arrested in China, imprisoned awaiting trial as US/UK spies - charged with causing the Covid Atrocity. Carrying the can for both Sino/Western sides. Sorry guys.

Meanwhile, Shi was playing them all the whole time. The last scene is a descending drone cam across wild seas, a rugged uninhabited coastline - to a high-tech laboratory built into the side of the mountain - finding Bat Lady - in her cave ...

Revision #3
Created 2022-02-02 06:24:58 UTC by dulandrift
Updated 2022-02-02 09:11:06 UTC by dulandrift